Over the subsequent two months, she was summoned repeatedly to report to authorities to be interrogated. #### Lucinda Marshall-Kiparissis General Coordinator Executive Report – September 2016

I would first like to take this space to give our Student Life Coordinator Rachel and her team a hearty felicitations for organising a successful (and fun) two weeks of fall Orientation. It was a great start to the year to be able to interact with so many students – new and returning. I would also like to give my appreciation to the Executive team for being present and willing to help during the course of Orientation. It is not a huge part of most of our mandates, but that my colleagues were all willing to get up early, do physical labour, help with food and drink service, and attend events as identifiable sober helpers in line with our Safer Spaces policy for CSU events is – I think – a testament to the support we've been giving to each other's work plans, and a show of wanting to put ourselves outside of our offices and give some human faces to the CSU for those we represent.

But prior to Orientation, the summer months since the last regular Council meeting have mostly been marked by less-than-exciting day-to-day work in the General Coordinator's office. However, there are some items of note! For one, I am very excited to advance with both of our major student space projects. We have been waiting on the provincial government all summer to grant us the permit to do demolition on the rue Bishop lot for the CSU Daycare, but with bureaucracy (finally!) seeming like it's in motion again after months, we're expecting updates in less than a fortnight now. As for the Cooperative Housing project, our partners at UTILE have purchased a plot of land in the Plateau, and we will be able to publically announce the location and other details by the end of the month, and after that set several balls in motion to bring the project forward and to raise awareness again among the undergraduate body, this time with a more concrete vision to present. Also very exciting, the Fiducie du Chantier de l'économie sociale has recently invested $1.1 million into the project, a sign of its recognised potential and promise. I'm looking forward to seeing these two projects advance over the rest of my mandate.

Since the last regular Council meeting, I attended – along with External Coordinator Aloyse Muller, Academic and Advocacy Coordinator Sophia Sahrane and Loyola Coordinator Marcus Peters – the last AVEQ congress in July, with AGE-UQTR in Trois Rivieres as our gracious hosts. I feel confident that AVEQ will take on positions that not only highlight the unique challenges of Anglophone universities and universities in the regions in solidarity, but will also be a voice on the provincial stage that will emphasise broad student concerns with oppression and marginalisation of identity. We will be hosting the upcoming congress at Concordia over the Thanksgiving weekend, and we are currently preparing for what will be a very substantial meeting with our colleagues across Quebec.

With the beginning of the new academic year, both Senate and the Board of Governors and their related committees have had – or will very soon have – their first meetings of the year. Though technically not appointed to either body despite being elected General Coordinator – an unfortunate hiccup of their respective eligibility requirements placing asymmetric limitations on student representatives in comparison to other representatives – I have been in communication with colleagues on both bodies. We have held our first Academic Caucus sessions with other undergraduate Senators, and I have been meeting with the graduate and alternate undergraduate Governors, as well as faculty allies on the Board. There is a lot that we can advance on both bodies this coming year, and I am heartened that the terms have started with deliberate planning and collaboration already.

I have been in communication with my counterparts at all four faculty associations at Concordia and will be moving to hold monthly roundtable meetings with them in the interest of horizontal communication and collaboration on our priorities – shared or otherwise. I will also be meeting with representatives from the GSA towards similar ends, and have been meeting representatives from CUPFA to continue building on student-faculty lines of allyship.

I have been in first meetings with several administrators over the summer - including the President of the university and members of his advisory group, and representatives from the Dean of Students office, and have been in communication with these actors otherwise regarding the Union's priorities and student interests in general. Aloyse and I had attempted several times to contact the outgoing CFO to clarify vaguely listed program fees for international students studying in certain faculties to no avail, but have since attended a talk given by the new CFO Denis Cossette on Concordia's budget, and have arranged a meeting with him for mid-October upon his return from vacation. We anticipate having a clearer idea of how and which undergraduate students will be paying more fees in order to address another deficit year for the university.

I have also been attending meetings as the CSU representative for the Concordia Foundation's Joint Sustainable Investment Advisory Committee, where I will continue to push for investment strategies in line with the positions students have taken through referendum on the environment and against extractive industries. I am also preparing a presentation on our Cooperative Housing project with UTILE and the CSU-initiated PUSH fund, as an immediate and Conordia-based example of social economy-focused impact investing, since impact investment has been of growing interest to the Committee.

As mandated by the CSU Safer Spaces policy which was adopted at the end of the last mandate, our entire executive team participated in two three-hour sessions of consent training and tailored-to-us power dynamics training, facilitated by representatives from the Centre for Gender Advocacy. Continuing with our obligations to this policy, we will be arranging a consent training workshop for Councilors within the upcoming month. And of course, we are preparing our presentations for Council Retreat, which is now only a couple of weeks away.

I'm thrilled to see our students back on campus, people visiting us in our offices, and I'm looking forward to Council meetings becoming a regular fixture of our schedules. Laying down groundwork over the summer was rewarding, but I'm anticipating all of the progress that can be made now that the new academic year has begun in earnest!

CSU Regular Council Meeting – September 21st, 2016

1. Resignations

Nora Fabre (Senate), Chloë Williams (Finance Committee), Mohammed AlNaggar (CEO)

2. Excusal requests

None, to date.

3. Logistical Comments & Updates

First off, welcome back to what I hope will be a productive and collaborative year!

In terms of booking rooms, I have secured space for all Council meetings except the December one as I am hoping to keep with tradition and book a space in the VA building for the last meeting of 2016, however that involves requesting the space from FASA so I cannot book it directly. Most meetings will take place in the boardroom of H-767, though one per semester is booked at Loyola campus. I have included out a document with the Council docs detailing all of these bookings.

Over the summer, we had two productive Special Council Meetings which were very smoothrunning (except one which did not make quorum), and in the interest of fill disclosure I also chaired an ASFA Special Council Meeting in August which also went swimmingly and I am proud to say, ended in a timely fashion.

Last Regular Council Meeting, there were a few outstanding sets of minutes from my former mandate, and those have been completed and submitted as well. All approved minutes have also been uploaded to the CSU's website for your consultation at any time.

I look forward to seeing you all Wednesday!

Aloyse Muller External affairs and mobilisation coordinator September 21st, 2016

Welcome back! It is not easy to summarize more than three month of work in a few pages. For the sake of brevity I will cover here the most important aspects of my work, but if you would like more detailed you are welcome to ask me questions in person or by email!

Handbook

The student agenda and the community handbook have been finalized, printed and are currently being distributed. Coordinating their production and contributing to their content has taken an important part of my time throughout the summer, especially in June and July. The agenda features useful information about the CSU and the university structures, ongoing campaigns, how fees are charged, resources, and how to get involved in the Concordia Community. It features monthly pieces on political issues, the writing of which was opened to Concordia students. However, several pieces were written by other people directly affected or working on the specific issue when I received no submission from Concordia students. I also tried to showcase the work being done by the fee-levy groups throughout the agenda. The back of the agenda also features a map of both campuses, and the location of gender neutral bathrooms. The community handbook aims to be a good resource for the student groups. It describes the student groups structures, and offer their contact informations. I would also like, given the time, to develop its equivalent online.

I want to thanks all the people involved in this process, who wrote, helped organize, proofread and provided feedback. It has been a collective work, but I take responsibility for any shortcoming one might find in these handbooks. I particularly want to salute the amazing work done by Catherine, Laurence, and Daniel, who designed both handbooks.

Aside from working on and organizing the content, my work involved coordinating the printing of the handbooks and the raising of revenues through ad placement. For the printing we decided to work again with KataSoho, who has produced the CSU for a few years. They have done a great job and delivered in time. The only difficulty encountered on the printing side was the payment, due to the finance committee's inability to meet quorum, which led to the calling of two special council meeting. On the advertisement side, I decided to prioritized CSU services and other useful services to students in terms of placement, then ads placed by the university. We opened ad placement to governmental services and non-profit organization through the ad placement agency sept24, which did not yield any result. In the future if there is a will to get ads from outside of Concordia, I would recommend seeking another agency.

Despite the low ad revenue, the printing of the handbooks was slightly below budget. I would recommend sticking to this formula, as these products are services we offer our members, and this would be jeopardized by including corporate ads, both in principle and aesthetically (one has just to consult the handbooks produced in the 2000s).

In terms of distribution the handbooks are available at the CSU receptions, welcome coffees during orientation, and I also collaborated with the Libraries to have them available there. We printed 13,500 agendas and 3,000 community handbook. Now that orientation is over I will make an inventory of the remaining one, set aside some for January and work on distributing the rest.

External relations

Throughout the summer I met with various student association representatives, mostly from Montreal but also Quebec City, in order to have a sense of what they are working on, and whether there are projects we can collaborate on. I also followed up on the UQAM tribunal affair by meeting with representatives from AFESH, AFEA, and ADEESE (UQAM faculty associations). One student was expelled for life and another suspended for a year, but I am currently not aware of whether they are challenging this decision in court.

Marcus, Lucinda, Sophia and I attended the AVEQ congress in Trois-Rivieres in July. Topics that were discussed were the annual campaign, the upcoming affiliation campaigns of the associations around the table, the mobilisation camp that will take place on the weekend of October 20th (more on this soon), the annual budget, and generally the vision for the year. It was also the first time that we used the Commission framework, in which during the congress four separate commission meeting take place, (socio-political, research, mobilization, and graduate studies). The research on mandatory health insurance for international students is ongoing, and AVEQ recently hired a researcher to research the impacts of austerity in the regions.

I'm sad to announce that Jean-Rene Leblanc, AVEQ's general coordinator resigned for medical and financial reasons. We have opened up the position for election, which will take place at the occasion of the next congress, that the CSU will host on October 8-9.

Over the summer I also followed up on our mandate to dissolve the FEUQ. The FEUQ had its annual general assembly on September 10th, at the occasion of which the same plan to change its letter patent that was voted against last year was presented. Transparency and communication with the outgoing board of directors has proven extremely difficult, in what I am told is a longstanding problematic feature of this organization, and they seem to have been unwilling to carry through with their mandate. I am glad to report that we elected a new board of director for the FEUQ which seems committed to settle the question of the archives and remaining funds of the FEUQ as soon as possible in order to proceed to its dissolution. I am confident my successor will not have to write like my predecessor and myself "work on the FEUQ dissolution" in their workplan.

We soon should be able to have access to the "Sources et Modes" data about Concordia students, which were collected for this study a few years ago.

Campaigns

I am glad to announce that the campaigns team as been enlarged, and we are now working with Irmak, Leh, and Madelaine, who have done invaluable work. The creation of a campaigns department is a step in the direction of being able to deliver better outreach to our members. Indeed trying to organize and coordinate events, prepare and run campaigns, and do general outreach for 35,000 students cannot be done by only one person!

The annual campaign is well underway. We have been meeting and organizing with Sustainable Concordia and Divest Concordia throughout the summer. Research and content production is ongoing, and a number of information material has been produced. We organized a training day on September 2nd, and two full days of activities on both campus during orientation. The panel on Resisting Climate Change was especially engaging, and we should be able to release a recording of it in the near future. A lot of new people have been expressing interest in the campaign, and I am confident it is gaining traction. However the work is ongoing. Divest Concordia is currently circulating a petition to get a referendum question on ballot at the occasion of the by-election (it was shown to council at the occasion of the first special council meeting this summer), and is also seeking endorsements and collaboration from student groups.

I have been attending the meeting of the 15$now! Coalition throughout the summer, however our human resources are limited in terms of active involvement in this campaign. I helped circulate a petition during orientation, and we are ready to support student groups who would like to campaign on the issue. A week of action is being organized for mid-October.

I am currently working on an Indigenous art mural project for the 7th floor of the Hall building. This project was initiated last spring but had to be put on hold over the summer as most of the stakeholders necessary for the good process of the project were absent.

I also have been working with the Centre and Lana on the organization of events to raise awareness about the issue of gender neutral bathrooms (or rather lack thereof) at Concordia.

Finance Coordinator, Adrian Longinotti

Executive Report for the Council Meeting on September 21st, 2016 Written on September 15th, 2016.

CSU Operations Budget

Over the course of the month of May, I worked closely with my team to assess our financial needs for each category of expenses. In addition, by reducing spending in some categories, we were able to reallocate that amount into others. One positive result is the creation of new in-house part-time positions such as Campaigns Assistants, an additional Receptionist and the return of a Communications Coordinator.

CSU Orientation: Kick-Off

By now, you must have at least been to one event during this year's two week-long Orientation. Throughout the summer, our team has been working immeasurably to ensure that your experience the year is yet another unforgettable one. On the financial side, The orientation team and I have been working closely to ensure that suppliers which we order from are both sustainable and most importantly, legitimate. In addition to our focus on retailers and suppliers, I was also responsible for the preparation, distribution and recording of cashflow for all events.

Finance Committee

Although the Finance Committee could not reach quorum throughout the summer vacation, we managed to successfully approve the payment for our beautiful agendas which I am sure you all have a copy of by now. Because we could not reach quorum, we have temporarily appointed three more councillors as members of the Finance Committee to avoid this issue should a committee meeting be called for.

Going forward, the Finance Committee will begin the process of research and discussion to work on and implement a new policy which regulates the applications and proposal for funding from the CSU. The committee would now be responsible to develop a set of criteria which must be followed and respected in order for a proposal to be accepted. I am very excited to begin this process and I am confident that this will be an effective policy to not only prove to be diligent but also helpful to those who wish to maximize the potential of the funding received.

Executive Report

Throughout the summer, the budget request form has been changed for club approvals. We have added details and more information on how to access funding from external groups such as the Concordia Council on Student Life. We also messaged and contacted most CSU clubs in order to have them fill up the budget request form. Budgets will be revealed to clubs at the Club Orientation on the 29th of September. It is coming up in a few days, food and workshops will be going on that day. Many helpful resources to clubs will have the opportunity to share a quick word with clubs. During the summer clubs has to re-register and the current registration process has many flaws. Our CSU clubs part of the website doesn't seem to synchronize properly with the Dean of Students database of recognized student groups. It is is my intention to solve this issue this year in order to simplify the process for the upcoming years. Clubs fair was a great day to launch the upcoming year for clubs. Clubs were able to meet new students, promote their club, give out free fund funded by the CSU and raise awareness about their causes. It was a great sunny day and it was also a good opportunity for me to finally meet the people that I have been communicating with by e-mail for the past few months. We also printed a banner that we have set up on the mezzanine in order to promote the many clubs that we have.

The first two weeks of school were quite a bit of work. Rachel and her orientation team organized a great orientation this year. Executives assisted the orientation crew in giving out coffee during the morning.

An issue that has caught my attention was the renovations that the University is planning on doing on the 7th floor. The renovations will reduce the limit the capacity of people that can stay on the 7th floor at any given time. The university has suggested People's potato and the MSA to reduce the number of people that can attend their events on Friday's which is not something I feel comfortable with. The university should have kept into consideration the current services on the 7th floor before planning to do renovations and they should accommodate to what is already in place. The renovations will also reduce the amount of CSU space on the 7th floor. I will keep on attending these meetings with hopes of finding a solution that will keep the CSU's autonomy on the 7th floor, as well as a solution that will not limit the number of attendees for Friday MSA prayers or people's' potato servings.

For the makerspace project, we have found a few potential solutions for the makerspace. A complete list of resources required, a timeline of events as well as a budget should be ready to be published before the end of the winter semester. I also plan on possibly putting a question on the ballot at the referendum to see how interested in students are in having a makerspace on campus.

Sophia Sahrane Academic Affairs & Advocacy Coordinator Executive Report Council Meeting September 21st 2016

Hello everyone! Welcome back, I hope you are all experiencing a good start to the semester. I will not try to summarize my first three months as Academic Affairs and Advocacy Coordinator, but rather will present the relevant projects and dealings I have worked on.

CSU Services Training

Ever since I have started my training and subsequent mandate, a need for the CSU services, HOJO, Advocacy, and the LIC, has been an obvious priority for all executives as well as for the services coordinators and staff. The idea was to have a training created especially for the CSU services and addressing cases of sexual assault, which have been considerably increasing in numbers on campus. The training was to be divided into three sections; the legal procedures to charging someone with sexual assault, the internal process within the university, and a by-stander training. CRARR was first approached to cover the whole training, but it was quickly understood that, not for lack of good intentions and trying, CRARR was not equipped to educate people on university processes and by-stander workshop. Therefore, the Sexual Assault Resource Center was contacted to give a training on the internal processes of dealing with a sexual assault charge internally (within the university structure), the Center for Gender Advocacy to give a sexual assault by-stander workshop, and for CRARR to give a training of the legal processes and implications of charging someone with sexual assault. All three services were contacted and are in the process of tailoring a training for the CSU services.

GSA/CSU Advocacy Collaboration

In early August, the GSA approached us with hopes to have the CSU Advocacy Center help them create their own advocacy center. As receiving and servicing Graduate Students has been a big issue at the Advocacy Center, the CSU Advocacy Coordinator worked on a contract, extended on a two-year plan, for the creation of an Advocacy Center for the GSA. The contract was signed in late August.

Hoodstock

In mid-July, I approached a community organization mobilizing against institutionalized racism, police brutality, and around popular education on Black and other POC (people of colour) history and situation social within the Canadian context. I offered the CSU's support, as historically CSU has done close to nothing for POC struggles, issues, and communities. We successfully helped them financially and on the ground for their annual Black Summit, where a series of panels discussing Black and POC struggles and histories all day.

Ad Hoc Committee on Senate Eligibility Requirements

All throughout the summer, I have been attending a Senate Ad Hoc Committee meeting on Senate Eligibility requirements with prof representative of each Faculty, the GSA, and the Administration. The university is dictating the requirements by which the CSU and the GSA must appoint senators, although as an accredited organization, it is at our discretion. The three requirements the university imposes on student senators alone (not faculty, staff, or part-time faculty) is for students to be in good standing academically, to be enrolled in a program (discriminating against independent students), and to have not been charged under neither university Codes (the Academic Code of Conduct or the Code of Rights and Responsibility). We were therefore engaged in discussion regarding what recommendation to give to senate as to the changes to adopt to the Senate eligibility requirements (which have not been changed since the 70s). A recommendation has been concluded, but the CSU has yet to approve or dissent from it, it is to stay confidential until the October senate meeting when the recommendation is to be presented.

Academic Caucus

Academic Caucus officially met for the first time on September 9th, where I gave a senate orientation. Not all senators attended, as we are still missing four appointments. Senator contracts on attendance were signed, and we all got to know each other a little better! The second academic caucus meeting happened on Thursday the 15th, the day before senate, where we all reviewed the senate documents together and brought up any issue with had with them. The documents did not contain anything too contentious, the most problematic one being in the closed session. We did a play by play of our interventions at senate, and I met with the absent senators individually to update them on what they had missed.

Senate

As the first senate meeting of the year, most of it was spent presenting last year's committee reports, and going through senate orientation. As mentioned previously, the most contentious item was during closed session. We also successfully gave Lucinda Marshall-Kiparissis, the CSU's General Coordinator, and Marion Miller the Fine Arts elected representative on senate, speaking rights for the duration of the open session.

September 15th Academic Caucus Agenda Present: Marion, Lucy, Ian, Sophia

Absent (with regrets): Armani, Patrick, Rudy, Jana

1. Check in

- Everybody's busy and exhausted but good!

2. Recap of Senate orientation

- Don't forget to not all sit together

- After your respective senate committee meetings, make sure to send me small reports on what was brought up, and what was relevant (send them to me within 3 days following the committee meetings so I can write up the final academic caucus/senate meeting reports for council)

3. Committees appointments

- Don't forget to let me know which committees you are going to step down from so that we can appoint other senators to these committees.

4. Remarks on senate docs

- Nothing too contentious in the open session docs, in the senate by-laws, article 63 on student eligibility hasn't been changed to the new recommendation proposed by the Ad Hoc Committee on senate eligibility (that only students in conditional standing and independent students are not eligible to sit on senate, but students charged under either codes are still eligible). this will likely be addressed during the October senate meeting, but we should still make an intervention, remind senate that we are not dropping the ball on the subject.

- In the closed session documents, one of the two people recommended for the position of Chair of Tribunal panels,

Jean-Francois Forget, has a background in litigation against aboriginal groups. It is problematic for the University to hire or appoint an individual whose work has been devoted to furthering the oppression of Aboriginal people in canada.

5. Play by play of senate meeting (undergraduate student interventions during senate)

Open Session:

- Jana : I would like to mention to give speaking rights to Lucinda Marshall-Kiparissis, as the legal representative for the CSU in between council meetings, as well as Marion Miller, as the elected representative of Fine Arts Undergraduate students

Sustainability Coordinator, Lana Galbraith Executive Report for the Council Elect Meeting on September 21st, 2016 Date: September 18th, 2016

I firstly would like to apologize for the late submission of my report. Due to Orientation and the immediate planning of events happening in just a few weeks it has been difficult to sit down and write. Should you have any questions about anything whether it be my report or my work plan please contact me. I am more than happy to get any feedback from council. You can reach me at lgalbraith@csu.qc.ca if you can't make it to any of my office hours.

Secondly, I'd like to express my excitement to have all of council back after the summer. I'm looking forward to working with all of you and hope you are just as enthusiastic as I about the upcoming year at the CSU.

Orientation

All Orientation updates will be in the Kick-Off post-mortem, which will be distributed for the next council meeting.

Concordia Sustainability Policy

A year or so after the first few consultations with the Concordia community, the administration is planning on finalising the Sustainability Policy this Fall so it can be approved by the Board of Governors. Over the Summer, the Teaching, Learning and Research Sustainability Sub-Committee and the Operational & Environmental Sustainability Sub-Committee had joint meetings to agree on the governance framework of the sustainability working groups and the Guiding Principles of the policy. Sustainable Concordia and the Sustainability Action Fund were very vocal throughout the process and were often listened to by many administrators in the room. If you have any suggestions or questions about specifics within the policy feel free to ask in person or via email.

Embrace the City

One of the strategic directions of the University is "Embrace the City, Embrace the World." The administration has recognized that those are two conflicting ideas and therefore has created a working group called the Embrace the City Leadership Group that created the mandates of multiple different working groups for each aspect in which the city can be "embraced" by the University. My role in this group thus far has been ensuring undergraduate student representation in all of the working groups as well as informing members of the working group of what has and is currently being done by students and fee-levy groups to better connect to the city.

Trans* Issues on Campus and Gender Neutral Bathrooms Panel

The external and mobilization coordinator, the campaigns coordinator and I have been working with the Centre for Gender Advocacy throughout the summer on a campus wide campaign to increase the visibility of gender-neutral bathrooms. There will be a panel on the 3rd of October, a scavenger hunt on the 12th and a map of all bathrooms created after the scavenger hunt. So far 2 out of 3 panellists are secured as well as one moderator, space is booked and promotional materials are almost done. If you'd like to help with any of these projects or volunteer on the day of with logistics please contact me! I would love to see council at more CSU events.

Gabrielle Bouchard from the Centre for Gender Advocacy and I also met with the dean of students, the head of facilities, the head of health services, the registrar and the vice provost to talk about how Concordia could better accommodate gender non conforming students and they all seem to be on board albeit with a bit of prodding.

Aramark

The food provider for all cafeterias and many franchises in Concordia buildings meets with students and university representatives on a regular basis to go through all of the agreements made between the University and Aramark in terms of the quota of local and sustainable food that they are serving. Aramark was very proud of their "sustainable" seafood and they have met quite a few of their criteria including the amount of Canadian meat (other than beef). They are still having trouble consistently using local produce and cage-free eggs. The idea of using whole chickens and food preservation techniques was brought up and I hope to reinforce different ways that make using local food and minimising harm to the environment as the contract with Aramark leaves little to no room to actually be regenerative in any way.

It was also brought up that the Freshii that Aramark owns in the LB building uses a plastic bag to mix individual salads with their respective dressings, which is obviously very wasteful for no logical reason. I will be following up with them on this issue at our next meeting.

The University is now considered a "Fair Trade Campus" due to the fact that the coffee served in its cafes are either fair or direct trade, one chocolate bar and one tea in each food provider is also "Fair Trade." The University plans on holding events to celebrate this. While there are many problems with the concept of "Fair Trade" but this is a step forward in some respects. The Concordia Food Coalition has a seat on the committee that looks over the contract with Aramark and they have been a very valuable ally throughout the summer.

Collaborations

Over the summer, the Sustainability provided funding to Hoodstock and the Concordia Food Coalition's Bite Me week. We will possibly be giving funding to QPIRG's Disorientation as well. I have been helping with the promotion of a Kim Katrin Milan speaking event organized by the Centre for Gender Advocacy and partly funded by the Student Life committee. The external and mobilization coordinator and I have been working with First Peoples Studies Members Association and the First People's Studies Department to plan First Voices Week which will take place at the end of January/beginning of February.

Accessibility

Over the summer the Loyola coordinator and I met with members of CURE and QPIRG to talk about the CSU's accessibility. We will soon have a report on the accessibility of most CSU spaces upon which we can look into renovations. Not all of the information necessary was taken during the Radical Accessibility Auditathon during the winter semester so some of the executives and I audited the remaining spaces. I have also written a draft for the CSU services and offices to be scent-free. I plan on meeting with each coordinator and multiple staff members for their feedback. The Loyola coordinator and I will also be working with CURE to have another audit but on the Loyola campus.

Community Arts Project

One of the coordinators from last year's CSU event "Connecting Landscapes" and I are looking into how we could do a similar project surrounding the topic of decolonization. The project will run bi-weekly from mid-October to late March for a total of 10 weeks. One of our primary objectives will be to bring in artists and storytellers who are indigenous and people of colour to co-facilitate, help participants (*who may end up being mostly settlers from various backgrounds*) understand colonization and decolonization, and guide them creatively in the development of the project. The external and mobilization coordinator as well as the academic and advocacy coordinator have been in the loop during these discussions as they are both working on projects with similar goals and themes. We hope to work together throughout the year to both unify our message and cut costs (both monetary and labour).

Sustainability Committee 22/07/16

Present: Artem Mikhalitsin, Christina Massaro, Lana Galbraith

Absent: Hayley Currier

Agenda:

- Go Around—Check-In Minute Taker Chair Facilitation Your Ideas/This Year's Plan Budget Summer Updates Other Business Check-Out
- 1. Go Around Check In
  - We all introduced ourselves to the rest of the people in the committee.
- 2. Minute Taker
  - Christina Massaro will take minutes for this meeting.
- 3. Chair
  - Lana Galbraith will be the Chair for this meeting, but we can switch it throughout the year if someone would like to co-chair and gain experience or have a more in depth look into what's going on.

4. Facilitation

- Lana Galbraith will be the facilitator of this meeting, but suggested that we switch every meeting.
- 5. Your Ideas/This Year's Plan
  - This committee does many things, also things that aren't included in the budget because they also work with many outside committees/clubs
  - Will be following mostly the same plan of last year but some new things
  - New events this year is the World Social Forum CSU will have a small role in that
  - Lana will be setting up a Google drive following the meeting
  - Christina recommended maybe looking into having a food bank for Concordia. The Hive is a great idea, but this might be a way to help people outside of just lunch hour.
  - Lana will bring this up at the Sustainability Hub that are helds on the first Tuesdays of the month

6. Budget

- We have a significant increase compared to last year's budget: $23,000 vs $16,000.
- Gender Neutral Bathrooms
  - Currently looking for someone that opposes gender neutral bathrooms to have a panel and start a discussion on this.
  - Looking into making virtual maps available around campus to locate these bathrooms with the help of the Centre for Gender Advocacy.
- Curriculum Mapping
  - Someone from the Center for Gender Advocacy will be mapping out how much gender and sexuality comes up in the curriculum.
  - The money will be going towards open doors to new subjects such as the environment, indigenous issues and race.
- o Divest
  - The annual campaign is Divestment.
  - The committee's involvement will be more education based.
- o Community Arts Project and Vernisage
  - Last year project connecting landscapes --> way of doing art
  - organize workshops year around and two topics for each semester.
  - Would like for two topics to be connected.
  - Maybe a topic concerning race because its not talked about as much in the other projects done at the CSU but need to talk to the others
  - last year not as well attended but this year but make it more fun and social attributed $ to it
  - basically you listen to work shop and then make art based on what you just learned
- Anti-Colonial Project(s)
  - Not sure of planning yet but will work with other groups like FPSTMA and the so for now we are leaving room to have multiple projects.
  - This can be a big week or maybe just support for other groups.
- Transitions
  - Collaboration with the Concordia Food Coalition.
  - The conference is a lot of workshops and talks on things relating to food; ex: how to grow own food, how to make kombucha, what is food sovereignty?, etc.
- Collaborations with Sustainable Groups on Campus
  - Last year's Sustainability Coordinator ended up supporting a project in Trois Pistoles and another project on Open Source Birthing in Montreal that was put on by Concordia Undergraduates.

- If projects need extra funding and already got money from other sustain funds then maybe we could help them out
- We are allotting less than last year because they didn't use as much as they anticipated.
- Anti-Consumerism Week
  - only $200 bc not supposed to buy for this
  - a lot of donations and trades
  - dont need much $ but just really volunteers need
- rap battles
  - sustainable conu puts it on with climate justice mtl
  - so we pick whatever topic that we want
  - 1 rap battle = about $1000
  - csu has partnership with rap battle so we get to choose a topic
- Waste Busters
  - Volunteers will do 3 waste audits throughout Orientation.
    - ex: out of this amount 40% was compostable and then only 70% was actually compostable
  - They will have surveys to see how much people actually know about waste.
  - This will provide a small honorarium for each volunteer.

Lana Galbraith moves to approve this budget, Artem Mikhalitsin seconds;

Unanimously Approved

7. Updates from Summer

- Orientation is happening, if anyone is interested in what's going on in terms of Sustainability at the event they can approach Lana, otherwise Rachel is doing a great job. It will be a lot of fun and there's a cool final concert happening but we can't disclose anything yet.
- Lana is primarily working on putting in practice our safer spaces policy which might need tweaking as this is the first year where it is being implemented.
- The sustainable purchasing policy is older so has gone through quite a few different reiterations to improve but this year Lana hopes to include BDS (boycott divest sanction Israel) in the policy as this is a position the CSU student body took. She will also try and look into how we can avoid purchases that have unsustainable investments.
- 8. Other Business

There was none.

4. Approval of Last Month's Minutes

Lana asks if anyone read the last minutes. We currently have a google drive that she will update regularly. The committee approves of the minutes taken from the 22nd of July.

5. Bite Me Week

Presentation by Christale Terris, External Coordinator of the Concordia Food Coalition

Bite Me Week is week of events (workshops and public lectures on food politics and insecurities) with the goal of sharing knowledge on how to shift the narrative towards a more sustainable food system.

This year there will be a lot of hands on workshops to create active interest in students (aquaponics for instance). Topics that are brought up throughout Bite Me! Include the exploitation of migrants, indigenous food, gender, and more.

The CFC is hoping to engage both community and Concordia groups in the events including Cinema Politica. They are also hoping to make a map of what is happening on other campuses. There will be a picnic on the Friday. This will be the place to bring groups on campus together and share food on the Hall terrace. There will also be a 5 a 7 at Frigo Vert for their grand opening. Tabling 2 weeks in advance to promote the event during Orientation and they are trying to not conflict with Disorientation as much as possible.

All of the CFC working groups will be helping out throughout the week.

The CFC is asking for between $500 and $1000—in the past the week needed less than $1200 (as provided by the CFC) but that involved a lot of volunteers giving in-kind hours. Booking accessible space is the biggest expense, in the past Burritoville hosted a lot of events but that space isn't available anymore which is also adding more expensive than previous years.

Haley is for allocating $1000.

Artem thinks we should keep Hoodstock into account as we are budgeting.

It is decided that we won't decide on how much we will allocate until after the Hoodstock presentation.

6. Hoodstock

Presentation by Sophia Sahrane, Logistics Volunteer/Advisor for Hoodstock

The Black Summit is organized to promote black businesses and provide workshops on racialization and developing a sense of community for BIPOC (Black, Indiginous, People of Colour) folks. The event takes place in Montreal-Nord where 60% of residents are non-white. Money that the Sustainability Committee could contribute could provide childcare, food, workshops on social the economy, discussions on how the activist community is dominated by white people when the people at the frontlines of the issues they fight against are not white and more. There will also be a concert with local talents. The event is for BIPOC folks and allies. This year it is bigger because of the Black Lives Matter movement. This year they had to have a press conference because of the demand. Last year the event needed 7-8000$ but now the amount needed is roughly $11500. 100% of the work is volunteered and the event will take place this Sturday.

The CSU has not done a lot for the struggles in the past despite the fact that it represents a diversity of 35000 students and has the biggest Arab population in all of Canadian universities. This kind of event validates people's experiences and feelings and getting advice or a better sense of understanding for why things are happening. This event is going to keep it light and joyful.

Hayley wants to give 2500$. Artem thinks this is more in the mandate of External Committee as the event doesn't take place on the Concordia campus so he thinks we should give 1000$ which is proportionally more than what External gave.

Artem thinks we should give $1000 to Bite Me! Week from Transitions. Haley seconds.

Unanimously approved by the committee.

Artem proposes $1500 and would like the group to come back with their final budget for External committee to look at. Lana will communicate this with the chair of External Committee. 1500$ would come from Anti-Colonial Projects. Haley seconds.

Unanimously approved by the committee.

7. Other Business

There was no other business to discuss.

8. Next Meeting

Lana asks if there are any issues that the committee wants her to look into for the meeting. No issues are brought up during the meeting but councillors are welcome to contact Lana to look into anything before the September committee meeting.

9. Adjournment

Loyola Coordinator Report

Marcus Peters

Summary of developments over the summer:

Over the course of the summer, I spent the bulk of my time investigating the limits and potential behind all of the projects I wished to engage in within my role as Loyola coordinator at the CSU, as well as familiarizing myself with the rest of the union. Throughout this process, I was able to refine the different ideas into actionable items, which is best represented in the attached work plan. I will briefly summarize the matters of greatest importance from these past three months.

Loyola Renovations:

A lot of the conversations over the summer, including within the Loyola committee (see minutes from previous meetings), concern the renovations of student spaces at Loyola, and in particular SC-200 (where the Hive Café and Loyola Free Lunch program operate). While many of the proposed renovations will be relatively simple, the more ambitious proposals are hindered by the low electrical capacity of the space. I am currently engaged in conversation with various groups and stakeholders in order to tackle this issue, although the expenses associated with solving this issue may end up being large enough to require the due process of a referendum. There will be more updates on these ongoing conversations in the future.

CSU Survey:

Another initiative I was working with involved the launching of a CSU undergraduate survey, which would ideally be carried out every 2-3 years, and provide a database for the services and food groups to guide their actions and help them advocate for student needs. The most recent developments on this process have been positive. I was recently made aware that I must now investigate the possibility that the survey may require an open tender process for the company it will be outsourced to, as the CSU may fall under the legal categories that would necessitate this step. As always, I would like to stress that this project is coming out of its preliminary stages, and thus more updates will follow in subsequent reports.

Appointments:

The appointments committee managed to meet twice over the course of the summer. Our first meeting was marked by the decision to appoint Terry Wilkins (former General Coordinator of the CSU) to the Board of Governors as the non-voting member, as well as to put all other appointments back onto the site for a month due to the extremely low number of total applicants. In spite of this decision, and in spite of promotion through the CSU's web resources, when we reconvened a month and a half later the total pool of applicants was still relatively low. Happily, all of the regular postings were filled, and I am confident that the appointees are dedicated and qualified individuals.

Due to technical difficulties the minutes from our last meeting unfortunately went missing. This led to a lengthy follow-up process with the committee members in order to confirm the names of the appointees, as well as a loss of information on what was discussed regarding the individuals who were not selected for the various committees and groups.

There are still many appointments to be made, as I've received many requests for undergraduate representatives on various bodies in the past few weeks. These postings will all be made on the CSU's site and media platforms in the next few weeks, and I appreciate any effort on the behalf of council to spread these postings within their networks.

Collaborations:

Over the summer, we received requests from different organizations within the Concordia community for aid in their various projects and initiatives. The two most notable collaborations (as they involved financial aid) were with Divest Concordia for a climate consultation, and Quad fest. The Divest Concordia money (which totaled less than $400) was used to purchase food and cover the booking costs for their event, which took place prior to Marc Garneau's public consultation on climate change in the Loyola Hive (SC-200). As this fell in line with the CSU's mandate, the Loyola Committee was not consulted prior to the disbursement of the funds. The Quadfest money, which totaled $500, was approved by the Loyola committee, and further details can be found within the meeting minutes.

Closing note:

I am pleased with the way these initiatives are developing, and I look forward to meeting with my committee to discuss the best directions they can take. As always, if there are any questions, concerns, or general comments, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Loyola Coordinator Work Plan – 2015 / 2016

Marcus Peters – Loyola Coordinator

Overarching goal:

To improve visibility of the CSU at Loyola through community engagement, and promote sustainable and student-run initiatives both on campus and abroad

The set of objectives within this goal can be divided into the following categories:

- a. Survey Collect data on CSU members to the benefit of student services / student-run food groups / social justice initiatives
- b. Loyola renovations promote sustainability through investing in existing student and university initiatives & spaces
- c. Greenhouse Continue investigation of feasibility and push for university investment into project
- d. Increased visibility of services push for the expansion of poster space, television space, and other forms of visibility for student projects, services, etc.
- e. Divestment campaign work with organizers of the divestment campaign to promote sustainable practices both within the university and abroad
- f. Social Economy Incubator support the development of projects aimed at contributing to the social economy through harnessing student innovation
- g. By law changes investigate, develop, and implement policy changes to complement the efforts of this year, and with a specific focus on addressing issues of representation and marginalization

Each of these categories can be attributed a specific timeline and estimated date of completion. The table on the second and third pages illustrates an approximation of these two attributes. Also included is a list of where the mandate of each project was formed; whether it was a campaign goal (G), referendum/council mandate (M), or implicit within the functioning of the union (U).

Loyola Committee Meeting

- 1. Loyola space
- 2. Survey
- 3. Appointments
- 4. Events
- 5. Varia
- 6. Adjournment

In attendance: Marcus, Alex, Artem

Meeting begins at 4:05

1. Loyola Space

The next meetings will be held at Loyola at the student space on the campus (where the Hive Café is located). We will go over a vision for the campus that will include where to set up poster space, commission murals, and other forms of renovations. The expenses will in all likelihood come out of the SSAELC fund, which provides a substantial budget, so creative ideas that best utilize the space are encouraged.

2. Survey

Marcus has been working on a survey for the entire undergraduate population that will be launched during the fall semester. The service will be divided into 6 sections:

- a.) Basic demographic variables
- b.) Advocacy Center
- c.) HOJO
- d.) Legal Information Clinic
- e.) Market research for campus food initiatives
- f.) TBD (likely research on sexual assault)

He is currently in talks with the heads of the different services as well as other advisory bodies within the university. The survey will ideally be institutionalized as part of the Loyola Coordinator's mandate. More updates on this issues to come.

3. Appointments

We have yet to appoint a student-at-large for the Loyola committee, but as there has been only a single applicant, we can extend the application period.

4. Events

There will be a Loyola Day integrated within the CSU Orientation events that is currently scheduled to take place Wednesday, September 14. As soon as more details become available, we can actively begin to organize the event with the Student Life committee/coordinator. On a side note, there is talk within the Loyola Quartier meetings about having a 'Loyola Week', which would receive funding from the office of the VP External of the administration. More updates to come.

6. Adjournment at 5:15

Loyola Committee Meeting – August 16th 2016

In attendance: Marcus, Artem, Alex

Minute keeper: Marcus

Agenda:

- 1. Go-around
- 2. Loyola student space renovations
- 3. Loyola Accessibility audit
- 4. Funding request Quadfest
- 5. Orientation updates
- 6. Bus shelter project updates
- 7. Varia
- 8. Adjournment

Minutes:

1. Go-around

Meeting begins at 5:00

2. Loyola student space renovations

Updates on the renovations planned for the Loyola student space located in the SC building. The breakdown for the different parts to be renovated and the associated initial estimates are as follows:

a.)	Paint job	- $200
b.)	Corkboards	- $600
c.)	Projector	-$3000
d.)	Projector Screen	-$2000
e.)	Flat screen TV	-$1600
f.)	TV Wall mount	-$400
g.)	Countertop	-$6000
h.)	Sink (x2)	-$1200
i.)	Labor	-$8000
j.)	Mural	-$3000

In addition to this rough outline, further investigations regarding the feasibility for a dishwasher (for the Hive Café, the Free Lunch project, and the Loyola Dish Project) and an elevator (for accessibility of the space as well as general convenience) are ongoing, and as of yet there are no associated estimates. The bathrooms in the space will also undergo changes in order to become gender-neutral. All proposals regarding this space will have to be approved by the Hive Café team prior to being implemented. The funding for the renovations would come out of the Student Space, Accessible Education and Legal Contingency (SSAELC) Fund.

Alex pointed out that the counter space, which is given a midrange cost estimate despite possibly being stainless steel, could be split between granite and stainless steel for the different sections of the counter. This proposal would be cheaper, more functional, and aesthetically pleasing. Marcus will discuss this with the Hive and report back at a later date.

Please see the below for a layout of the proposed plans:

3. Loyola Accessibility audit

Marcus and Lana met with members of QPIRG (Quebec Public Interest Research Group) Concordia as well as CURE (Community-University Research Exchange) to discuss the accessibility audit that was held in the winter semester of 2016. The audit excluded Loyola, and while Marcus and Lana will be conducting the audit for student spaces, a campus-wide audit callout is currently being scheduled for the month of October. There will be more discussion on this issue to come.

4. Funding request – Quadfest

We received a funding request from the organizers of Quadfest, an annual barbeque event thrown together through collaboration between Loyola MA's (membership associations – ex: Biology Student Association). They submitted a professional and thorough budget that sought to be inclusive to the dietary needs of all students in attendance (right). They are seeking a total of $500.

Artem: Move to approve $500 dollars from the Loyola budget as a contribution to Quadfest

Alex: Seconded

Approved unanimously

5. Orientation updates

The first day of orientation will be held at Loyola, as well as many other events throughout the calendar. Any help during this period would be appreciated.

6. Bus shelter project updates

The Loyola Bus Shelter project, which is being worked on by an independent team, is proceeding smoothly. They were open to suggestions when Marcus spoke with them about incorporating student promotions/shaping it to match the needs of students. They will likely come back to us with a request for funding. More updates to come.

7. Varia

Next meeting will be scheduled through the group when there are additional updates on the space project.

Agendas will now be posted in the group prior to the meeting.

Rachel Gauthier

Student Life Report Submitted for: September 21st

The summer has been very busy planning orientation and getting things ready for the semester.

Orientation

We kicked-off orientation this year with a show outside the Loyola Chapel to celebrate Loyola's 100th birthday. I had heard that not enough events had been taking place at Loyola in the past. I thought that by having an event there the first night was a great way to highlight the campus. The show was amazing. The space in front of the Loyola flowers was very nice. The students had a lot of green space to sit and relax while enjoying the bands. We had two bands from Concordia and a band from Belgium. I would recommend having other events in that space.

We also decided to have morning coffees every morning. This seemed like a good idea in practice since it gave the team a chance to be more on the ground and interacting with students. In practice, the latter was great but it was realistic to have a morning coffee every morning since the team was exhausted. Leaving a morning or two for rest would be a better idea!

This year we partnered with Festival OUMF. The festival partners with AéESG every year for their comedy show. The festival reached out to me to partner with them. They offered me tickets to sell to Concordia students. I was interested in this event since the CSU hasn't planned a comedy show in the past for orientation and also hasn't planned any francophone events. In theory, this seemed like a good idea. In practice, we had trouble getting the word out there to francophone students and the show wasn't very well attended. The festival also organized an outdoor ball hockey tournament at which the male and female Stingers hockey teams came together to make one team and participate in this tournament to represent Concordia. This was great since we got the student athletes involved and recognized.

The Club's street fair was a success. The weather was great for an outdoor event. Getting a permit from the city to close the street was one of the more stressful tasks of the summer but the event made it all worth it. It was definitely too bad that it rained on Thursday for the Community Street Fair since the student traffic on the street is much higher than on the 7th floor. At least, we were lucky to have a contingency plan and still help the event.

EMAC on the Square was a difficult event to organize. We tried all summer to book the 11th floor EV Terrace to do a repeat of the EMAC on the Roof that happened in May but the administration changed their booking policy for the terrace. We therefore had to turn around quickly to plan it on the hall terrace. In the end, a lot of students attended and the artists showcased were great.

We left Monday and Tuesday of the second week in the schedule to give us some planning room and save some money for winter orientation. That resulted in a great partnership with Divest that organized orientation activities of their own on those two days. Therefore, we didn't have events happening at the same time and we helped each other promote events and collaborated with some planning aspects. Wednesday we had Loyola Day. The forecast was calling for rain for the majority of the morning. We decided to wait and see if it cleared out before cancelling. Luckily, the sky did clear and we were able to hold the event. We decided to go beyond having a simple BBQ and drinks on the quad. Since the downtown students get the clubs and community fairs, we decided to try and bring out as many clubs, services, and community groups out to Loyola for a small fair. We were happy to see that clubs and groups did want to go to Loyola and we had around 15 groups throughout the day.

The open mic event was a nice event. There were several students from the Loyola residents. These events are great for creating a bond between students. A lot of students shared their personal work which was beautiful.

We have made some changes this year to the typical orientation activities. The biggest change was organizing a wellness day. Considering the first weeks of school can be very stressful and filled with anxiety, we decided to organize some workshops around mental, physical and social wellness for students. We organize each workshop in collaboration with a group on campus in order for the participating students to learn more about these groups and use them as resources afterwards. This was a great way for us to have experts lead workshops and to reinforce the relationships between community groups and the CSU. Some workshops were very well attended like the Yoga, the greenhouse herbal workshop and the beading workshop but some had to be cancelled: the workshop given by SARC and the morning run lead by the Concordia Running Club.

Open air pubs are nice events were students can enjoy a cheap meal outside on the hall terrace. We offer hot dogs, hamburgers, veggies burgers and drinks. We have CJLO dj for us at these events which is always great!

The final concert is an event that has been planned by the CSU for several years in a row. It's a nice way to get the community together and enjoy music. This year, I wanted to make sure I booked local talent. Dead Obies is a bilingual hip-hop band from Montreal and Busty and the Bass is a McGill based Jazz band. They both played Osheaga this summer which adds hype to the show. I also made sure to have two very different types of music. The opening band is an all female band and the dj that plays between sets is from CJLO.

Reggies

This summer the board worked very hard on getting Reggies ready for the reopening in August. We made some menu changes, new marketing, developed the roles of the board and got a new website! The website is great and now students can book their events online.

Rachel Gauthier

Student Life Coordinator Work Plan Submitted for the September 21st council meeting

Orientation

When: September 6th-16th

Goal: To introduce the new and returning students to the Concordia Community. Orientation will take place between September 6th and 16th. This year, there will be 29 events planned over 9 days. The CSU will be giving out free morning coffee, tote bags, mugs and agendas every morning of the two first weeks of class. We will be having the famous Open Air Pubs on the hall terrace, a Loyola day that will include a tabling fair, a final concert, an opening concert at Loyola and a Wellness day with six various workshops to name a few of the orientation activities. The goal behind the orientation activities is to connect students to each other, to the university, to the services and to potential opportunities for students to get involved.

Post-Mortem

When: September 19th-30th

Goal: To review the orientation activities and propose ways to make it better for next year's team.

After every orientation, the Student Life Coordinator must evaluate the orientation activities and present the post-mortem to council. During the two weeks following orientation, I will be compiling information about the events, taking inventory and adjusting the budget. The post-mortem serves to present to council what was accomplished, what the strengths were and what can be done better. This document is also very valuable for the following team as a learning tool for their orientation.

Reggies

When: ongoing

Goal: To make Reggies more accessible and inclusive to everyone.

As an active member of the board of directors and taking into account the previous relationship between the Student Life Coordinator and the General Manager of Reggies, I intend to focus on three goals for Reggies:

- 1) The transition to gender neutral bathrooms: Reggies needs to implement gender neutral bathrooms and educate the students that go to the bar on the proper etiquette in such bathrooms.
- 2) Safer Space Policy: A safer space policy was introduced to the bar at the end of the previous teams' mandate. I will work on looking on how to improve its implementation, do research on other bars that have similar policies and find solutions to the current issues in the bar.

3) Transition to a Cooperative business model: Reggies became a coop this summer. In order to be a successful coop, Reggies must collect memberships. I will work on a marketing plan to help Reggies entice students to sign up for memberships.

Special Projects Funding

When: 3 times per semester

Goal: To support student initiatives.

As the Student Life Coordinator, alongside the student life committee, I have the chance to review the applications to the special projects fund. As a committee we review projects that students submit and allocate funding.

Winter Orientation

When: January 2017

Goal: To introduce the new and returning students to the Concordia Community. This year, I want to organize a winter orientation for the first weeks of class in January. An orientation in the fall is great but a lot of students are overwhelmed with the start of class that they do not look for opportunities to join a group or club. Giving students a chance to adapt to university life and hosting fairs in January should increase participation in clubs and groups. We will also try to have speakers, and meet and greet events so students can get to know the community and each other.

Various events

When: Throughout my mandate

Goal: To help and support groups on campus with events that benefit the student population.

During my mandate I will be organizing small events. I want to focus on collaboration with groups on campus when I will choose where to focus my time. I prefer helping someone else have a successful event that can benefit the community at large than working in silo. I have had the Center for Gender and Advocacy, the Health and Services, CJLO approach me. I will also work on some projects with Lana and Sophia. June 16th, 2016 Student Life Committee meeting

Proposal for CSU Start-Up Funding

Context

Prior to its collapse, CSU was nationally affiliated to FEUQ. FEUQ's collapse was precipitated by large-scale disaffiliations (notable by FAECUM); however, CSU did not formally disaffiliate from FEUQ prior to the latter effectively ceasing operations and the collection of student fees. As a result, CSU members paid FEUQ membership fees (totalling ca. $120,000) for one semester during which these fees were not remitted to the now-defunct FEUQ. In light of the unfeasibility of refunding these fees to individual students, as well as a desire to provide start-up support to its new national representation, AVEQ, CSU council authorised the use of these funds for the support of national student representation.

Previous Action

In accordance with the above-mentioned mandate from Council, the CSU executive transferred approximately half of these funds ($60,000) to AVEQ in January 2016. This funding allowed AVEQ to rapidly expand, in spite of having only CSU as an officially-affiliated member at the time. Notably, AVEQ was able to hire staff, and subsequently its first executive team, begin research projects, increase its public and online presence, develop policies and other organizational infrastructure, and organise several congresses. In essence, this additional start-up funding enabled AVEQ to mitigate a Catch-22 situation: on the one hand, students want to see the tangible benefits of a national association before voting to affiliate, while on the other hand, the national association needs affiliations in order to fund projects which benefit students.

Proposal

The remainder of this funding for national representation is currently being held by CSU, pending a decision on how it should be allocated. AVEQ's executive, in consultation with CSU's External Affairs & Mobilization Coordinator, has developed the following proposal. Overall, this proposal seeks to balance the following three elements:

1. This funding has been earmarked by CSU council for national representation, and thus logically should be allocated to AVEQ, as CSU's official national representation.

- 2. Given that affiliations to AVEQ are still pending on many campuses, CSU justifiably wishes to ensure that large amounts of supplementary funding are not allocated to projects whose long-term future is not entirely certain.
- 3. In light of the abovementioned difficulties of establishing a new national association as a valuable and credible organisation with limited resources, providing additional funding to AVEQ this year would have an outsized impact on its long-term viability.

Part 1: Immediate transfer of 50% of remaining funds (~$30,000), earmarked for Community Action Fund

AVEQ's budget includes a Community Action Fund, which will award grants to projects involving collaboration between students and community members/groups. This fund aims to implement AVEQ's vision of bringing the student movement into closer collaboration with broader social movements, and of supporting local and grassroots campaigns and projects. This year, the fund and details on its operations will be announced at AVEQ's Mobilization Camp in late October.

AVEQ's 2016-2017 Operating Budget allocates $18,200 to this fund; this additional funding would therefore bring the total available to nearly $50,000. This greater ability to award grants will increase AVEQ's public profile and viability as a national organisation, and foster increased collaboration between external organisations and campaigns, and AVEQ and other student groups. It will also directly benefit CSU members, as it is safe to assume that projects involving CSU students will be amongst the recipients of grants from this fund.

Finally, this grant would have a positive impact on students and the broader community irrespective of the number of affiliations AVEQ does or does not receive over the course of this year, as it will be 100% restricted to funding Community Action Fund grants, and therefore not contribute to AVEQ's general operating expenses.

Part 2: Contingent transfer of final 50% of remaining funds (~$30,000) to AVEQ's long-term emergency fund

It is essential for national student associations to maintain an emergency fund for such purposes as large-scale mobilization and legal actions. In the current context of austerity and tuition increases, and with the next provincial election only two years away, it is imperative that AVEQ set up such a fund as soon as possible. A start-up contribution to this fund from the funds held by CSU would be invaluable in doing so, given that the decision to put as many resources as possible into the creation of organizational infrastructure and the running of programs while affiliations are ongoing is unlikely to leave AVEQ with a large surplus at the end of the current fiscal year.

In order to ensure that this money is being used effectively, it is proposed that CSU reviews the long-term of viability of AVEQ in March or April of 2017, by which point affiliation votes on several campuses will have taken place. This assessment can then inform a final decision as to whether this part of the proposal is given final approval.

Policy Committee - September 15th, 2016

Agenda

Present: Thomas, Aoutif Absent (with regrets): Jason, Maidina, Mikaela

- 1. Approval of the Agenda
- 2. Check in

3. Importance of being reachable

- Establishing which medium of communication everyone prefers.
- There are two choices for you all to be reached, whether to share documents before a committee meeting, to confirm your presence at meetings, or to reschedule a meeting; Facebook group or email.

4. Getting everyone's contact information

5. Standing Regulation n.237

- To be revised at the next committee meeting (as we did not have quorum)
- A typo that is probably due to copy-pasting. Very straightforward.

6. Fee Levies:

- introduction to the process of reviewing and approving (or rejecting) an application for fee-levy increase or the creation of a new fee-levy.
- Groups intending on applying for the creation of a new fee-levy must submit all their documentation (constitution, regulations, internal complaints process, signatures, etc.) by Monday September 19th to the Academic Affairs and Advocacy Coordinator, who will bring the documents to the next policy meeting.
- All documents must be reviewed, and sent back to the group for changes if necessary with comments and recommendations.
- There is a back and forth until policy committee is satisfied, then the question is brought to council with a recommendation from policy committee. Council then votes on whether or not the group can put their question on the ballot.
- Same applies for fee levy increases, although the deadline is different.
- QPIRG: QPIRG is going for a fee-levy increase.
- Dish Project: They are going for a fee-levy creation
- FIAS: Also a fee-levy creation
- Greenhouse: Going for a fee-levy increase but probably in Winter 2017 (reached out early to be prepared)
- 7. Any projects/ideas you want to bring forward for this coming semester/year?
- 8. Check out
- 9. Adjournment of committee meeting

PHARE2017 SURVEY PROJECT Executive Summary

INTRODUCTION

Student housing is the first expense for a vast majority of students, in Montreal as elsewhere. In comparison with other cities, the universities of Montreal offer few residence halls, end even fewer affordable options. In fact, student housing is an issue that has been largely overlooked in recent decades, especially by the various levels of government. Furthermore, very little data is available on the topic and when it is, it is at a provincial level, not local.

CONTEXT

UTILE, a registered nonprofit, is spearheading development and research on student housing in the province since 2013. A first edition of the PHARE survey was executed in 2014 to collect the most detailed and first open dataset on students' living conditions in Quebec. A 2017 re-run would allow to update this data for research and advocacy reasons, empowering student unions to act and communicate on housing issues. In the aftermath of the creation of the Popular University Student Housing (PUSH) Fund to develop affordable coops, fresh and larger data on the housing needs of students could help expand innovative answers if sufficient demand is observed.

WHY 'PHARE'?

PHARE stands for "Prospection des habitudes et aspirations résidentielles étudiantes". This translates to "Exploration of the housing conditions and needs of students". As an acronym, "phare" translates to "lighthouse".

PROJECT SUMMARY

PHARE is a short (30 questions, 8 minutes) web survey extended to all the undergraduate students of Montreal and Quebec cities, with generic and specific questions related to student housing. This survey will produce raw data as well as localized datasets and a rough analysis of the results. Pending public funding, a nonprofit research firm will be hired to execute the survey and program an analysis tool that can produce provincial and local tables of results. For continuity, the survey questionnaire is based on the PHARE 2014 survey, adapted with input from a research firm and the project partners. A unified survey (with minimal variations) also allows the sharing of data.

OBJECTIVES

- > Measure demand for affordable student housing, a prerequisite for public and private funding;
- > Document the housing conditions and needs of students in Montreal and Quebec;
- > Produce data for student unions at a low cost;
- > Support the advocacy work of student unions with up-to-date data and historical trends;
- > Promote collaboration between student unions around the issue of student housing.

LOGISTICS DETAILS AND COST

- > Students will be surveyed in French on UdeM, UQAM and UL campuses, and in English at Concordia and McGill;
- > Other campuses might be added to the research according to project popularity and funding;
- > Two to three follow-up emails will be sent to students;
- > Planned survey period : Three weeks between February and March;
- Survey cost per campus is 3 000 $ for Montreal campuses and 5 000 $ for single campuses in other cities. This covers analysis and programming costs as well as UTILE's coordination and survey management efforts, estimated at cost, and is open to discussion (and economies of scale);
- UTILE is a nonprofit and offers full financial transparence to its partners. This project is made possible by a pending 40 000 $ grant from the Ministry of Economy, Science and Innovation.

LEGAL DETAILS

- The legal framework has three elements :
  - Agreements between the partners and UTILE establishing everyone's role;
  - > A service contract between UTILE and the firm, guaranteeing the proper execution of the project;
  - Confidentiality agreements between each partner and the firm insuring that mailing lists are used solely within the parameters of the project and disposed of afterwards, with permanent encryption.
- Student unions are legally allowed to survey their members. UTILE centralizes the project for economies of scale and to promote collaboration between its partners, creating data for all of Montreal and elsewhere in Quebec at the same time.

PHARE 2014 PARTNERS

- > CSU (Concordia Student Union)
- > SPARI-UQAM (Planification service of UQAM)
- > CADEUL (Université Laval Student Union)
- SSMU (Student Society of McGill University)
- AMT (Agence métropolitaine de transport)
- > SHQ (Société d'habitation du Québec)

WHY ANOTHER SURVEY?

PHARE is the only housing survey that can provide campus-specific and provincial results, supporting the work of both local and national unions. UTILE can also offer a "turnkey" service to unions, saving time and work. Finally, UTILE's expansive network of research partners, including public bodies at all levels of government, ensure maximum impact of the data produced. PHARE is programmed to be run every three years for long-term analysis.

One of the maps produced with PHARE 2014 data.
